

Dear Mariza,

I can't sleep so I decided to e-mail you instead. It was a very good trip and now I know why Fr. (alam mo na) is one of your favorite.

For the first time out of my pilgrimages, I felt I was really on a pilgrimage. The distances between shrines are so much that I really appreciate the convenience of the bus. Of course I do not mind because I can OFFER the discomfort to God without actually doing something special, and I would not think twice if given the opportunity to go back to the same places again in the future.

I am glad and happy that you found a roommate for me. She understood what I wanted and she did exactly what I wanted without me telling her and I think she feels the same way with me too.
